DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. These claims cite a blood vessel, an unpatentable part of the human body, as a structural part of the invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Erlebacher et al. (5,350,399). Erlebacher et al. disclose, at least in the figures and in col. 5, line 30 to col. 6, line 30, an assembly or closure assembly for introduction into an incision and for sealing an opening in the wall of a blood vessel having a vessel wall with inner and outer surfaces and a method with the assembly for sealing an incision and an opening in a blood vessel, where the assembly or closure assembly and method include, inter alia, a sheath (57) or first member and an occlusion system comprising a resorbable, spreadable occlusion element (11) or second resorbable segment constructed and arranged to be inserted into an incision and directed to seal an opening in the wall of the blood vessel; a resorbable retaining thread (12) or first resorbable segment with a distal section and a proximal section and arranged to receive a force for causing engagement of the occlusion element with the inner wall surface of the vessel, and a resorbable locking element (13) or third resorbable segment arranged to be slidably mounted on the retaining thread and apply force to the outer wall surface of the blood vessel.

Response to Amendment

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
